

Department of Human Genetics,
Guru Nanak Dev University
Amritsar (Punjab)-143005

Applications on plain paper are invited from bonafide Indian citizens for the position of SRF at Department of Human Genetics, G.N.D.U, Amritsar in a CSIR funded research project entitled Targeted Genome Analysis of Two Large Diabetic Retinopathy Cohorts From Northern and Southern India.

Position	Stipend	Essential Qualifications	Desirables
SRF (01)	18,000 + 20% HRA	MSc in Human Genetics, Molecular Biology & Biochemistry, Biotechnology, Zoology with minimum 60% marks and at least two years of post MSc, research experience as evidenced from any fellowship/ associateship or traineeship and published papers in standard refereed SCI journals	Experience and knowledge of Molecular Genetic techniques like PCR, Sequencing etc. Detailed knowledge of advanced molecular techniques and basic data analysis.

Interested candidates should submit their Application to the undersigned on plain paper along with a typed biodata, enclosing self attested copies of each supporting documents /certificates till 5pm on 2nd March, 2015. Incomplete applications will be summarily rejected. Candidates, whose final result is awaited, will not be eligible. However, G.N.D.U reserves the right not to fill up the post, if it so desires. The decision of the Institute shall be final in this regard.

Prof AJS Bhanwer
Principal Investigator